EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Parents have great love for their children. That is natural, but as far as their children's future is concerned, love alone is not enough. Love often turns into pampering their children, which makes a child too easy going. He may refuse to do hard work; this tendency could stop his future development. Good parenting calls for living between two opposites: on the one side being soft on the other side being strict, parents have to be both subjective & objective in their behaviour towards their offspring. Parenting or child rearing is the process of promoting the physical, emotional, social, financial, intellectual development of a child from infancy to adulthood.

We all are familiar with the following maxim: To be born with a silver spoon, in reference to a child born in an affluent family. That means favoured children are frequently less successful in their lives than those who have failed to find a favour from their family. There is a better alternative for parents rather than giving favour; it is to give their child self-confidence. Self-confidence is the best gift parents can give their children.

Parents are always emotional towards their children, but according to the law of nature, emotional behaviour may not always be good for their well-being. It is in their nature to be emotional, but the best parents are those who control their emotions and take a realistic approach to parenting. The most important guide for parents is to be careful of their own conduct. Children are always watching their parents, learning from not just what they are told, but what their parents do and how they behave too. — Nazeer Ahmed Kazi in Deccan Herald

World's thinnest mechanical wristwatch

Geneva: The Richard Mille RM UP-01 Ferrari is the new world's thinnest mechanical wristwatch, at just 1.75 millimeters thick. But whilst its frame may be diminutive, its price tag is anything but, at a whopping 1.88 million dollars.

In 2018, the world record was set by the Piaget Altiplano Ultimate Concept, with a thickness of 2 millimeters. Earlier this year, Bulgari unveiled the Octo Finissimo Ultra, a mechanical wonder with a thickness of just 1.8 mm. But its reign was shortlived as well, because Swiss watchmaker Richard Mille decided to celebrate its partnership with Ferrari by creating an even thinner mechanical wristwatch, the RM UP-01 Ferrari, at only 1.75 millimeters.

Crafted from grade 5 titanium and featuring an ultra-thin mechanism, the Richard Mille RM UP-01 Ferrari pushes the boundaries of mechanical timekeeping farther than ever before. It is designed in collaboration with watchmakers Audemars Piguet and Renaud & Papi.

REALLY...?

- Ancient coins were made from gold, silver, electrum, and copper and its alloys, bronze or brass. The earliest coins, minted in Asia Minor in the mid- to late seventh century B.C., were of naturally-occurring electrum, an alloy of gold and at least 20 per cent silver.
- They were consistent in weight, implying that they were intended to have a set value, yet their value as bullion varied greatly, since coins of the same weight possessed different ratios of the more precious gold and the less precious silver. These early electrum coins were minted for only about fifty years, and by the middle of the sixth century they were replaced by coins of silver. Gold coins did not become common until the time of Philip II, the father of Alexander the Great.

Asphalt Gangothri Public School, St. Peter's Church Road in Bogadi

Sir,

I am a resident of Bogadi 2nd Stage and I am writing this letter to raise an issue the people in my locality are facing due to the bad condition of the Gangothri Public School Road which leads to the Bogadi-Gaddige Road connecting to the Bogadi Ring Road.

Despite the road leading to a Public School and a Church, this stretch is bumpy and uneven. The students, parents and Church-goers often get aggravated as they have to commute through this skiddy road every single day and a lot of accidents take place due to these potholes.

During monsoon season, these potholes become the breeding ground for the mosquitoes as they are perpetually filled with water.

Multiple requests from the people of this locality to repair the road have gone unheeded.

I hope the MCC authorities will take necessary measures to asphalt and improve the condition of this road at the earliest.

Kodagu receives 748 mm rainfall from July 1 to 13

- 98 percent more rains compared to previous year data
- High inflow and outflow from Harangi, KRS reservoirs

Water flowing above the danger mark at Kanive Hanging Bridge in Kushalnagar Taluk. Water from both River Cauvery and River Harangi meet at this point before reaching Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Dam in Mandya.

Kushalnagar, July 14 (Akshay &BCT)- The Southwest Monsoon this year has brought bountiful rains to Kodagu and the district has experienced above-normal rainfall in the month of July. As a result, the outflow from the Harangi Reservoir to the Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Reservoir has drastically increased.

Though the India Meteorological Department (IMD) had predicted an average and normal monsoon from the first week of June as there were early signs of the monsoon entering neighbouring Kerala, the monsoon made a late entry.

In fact, it picked up in the month of July and from July 1 to 13, it rained 748 mm while the normal rainfall for the same period is 378 mm — 98 percent more than actual rains.

According to the daily rainfall data released by the Karnataka State Natural Disaster Monitoring Centre (KSNMDC), as per the annual average, Kodagu received just 227 mm of rainfall in June as against the normal rainfall of 533.6 mm resulting in 57 percent deficient rainfall.

As per the normal Southwest Monsoon, from June 1 till July 13, Kodagu had to receive 912 mm rainfall while this year it received 975 mm, 7 percent more rainfall. From January 1 till July 13, the district had to receive 1165 mm as per the previous averages while this year, it received 1398 mm, 20 percent more rainfall.

From July 1 till July 13, an average rainfall of more than 50 mm has been recorded. On July 1 — all the Taluks combined — it rained 36.36 mm, on July 2 - 53.01 mm, on July 3 it rained 66 mm, on July 4 - 45.16 mm, on July 5 - 65.83 mm, on July 6 - 68.01 mm, on July 7 - 57.06 mm, on July 8 - 49 mm, on July 9 - 52 mm, on July 10 - 98 mm, on July 11 - 66.71 mm, on July 12 - 72.70 mm and on July 13 - 49.28 mm.

Rs. 500 crore to be released for restoring infrastructure in rain-affected areas: CM

Bengaluru, July 14- Even as rains continue to batter the State, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Wednesday said that the Government would soon release Rs.500 crore to restore public infrastructure damaged due to heavy rains and floods.

Speaking to mediapersons here yesterday, Bommai maintained that the priority of the Government was to restore damaged roads, small bridges and culverts and make them motorable again at the earliest. Fallen and damaged electricity poles and power supply lines would be restored using this fund, he said adding that additional funds would be released after reviewing the rain and flood situation in August.

Pointing out that Karnataka would seek funds from the Union Government under NDRF after collating all data related to rain and floods damage in districts across the State, Bommai said that the relief and rehabilitation works have been taken up on a war-footing.

Noting that Mysuru, Dakshina Kannada, Uttara Kannada, Kodagu and Udupi districts received heavy rains in July, he said that so far, 32 people had died, five were missing, 34 injured and around 300 people were shifted to safer places.

Fourteen care centres have been opened and four NDRF/SDRF teams have been deployed for rescue and relief works in these regions, the CM added.

Nine water aerodromes in State, one at KRS Dam

Efforts on to acquire 240-acre land for Mysore Airport expansion: Minister Somanna

Bengaluru, July 14 (Agencies)- Infrastructure Development Minister V. Somanna has said that the BJP Government is moving aggressively to set in place a robust civil aviation system to boost the State economy and plans are afoot to develop nine water aerodromes.

Pic. for representation only.

Addressing a State-level Consultative Workshop to formulate a Comprehensive Civil Aviation Policy for Karnataka, he said: "Potential locations for development of water aerodromes have been identified at KRS, Kali River, Byndur, Malpe, Mangaluru, Tungabhadra, Linganamakki, Alamatti and Hidkal reservoirs.

A water aerodrome is an open water space that seaplanes and amphibious aircraft can use for landing and take-offs. They can be built at much less cost and time, as compared to land-based airports. They do not require the physical construction of the runway.

Such aircraft are expected to take people across water faster and more safely than local boats. Moreover, depending on the volume of traffic, water aerodromes may have a terminal building on the shore or on a jetty where planes can dock, and bays where they can be parked. At present, there are two water aerodromes in the country — Sardar Sarovar Dam (Statue of Unity) and Sabarmati Riverfront, Ahmedabad in Gujarat.

The State-level Consultative Workshop was organised by the Infrastructure Development, Ports and Inland Water Transport Department, the Karnataka State Industrial Development Corporation Limited and the Union Civil Aviation Ministry.

Keeping in mind the scope of tourism and economic development, the State Government has been focussing on improving the civil aviation infrastructure. Currently, the development works of airports in the Shivamogga, Vijayapura, and Hassan districts are in progress. These are expected to be completed and become operational soon.

Measures are also being taken to acquire around 240 acres of land and hand it over to the Airports Authority of India for a runway extension and airport upgradation of the Mysore Airport, he added.

The airlines flying to airports at Mysuru, Hubballi, Vidyanagar (Toranagallu), Belagavi, Kalaburagi and Bidar are getting a 20 percent of viability gap funding by the State Government under the Centre's UDAN scheme which promotes regional connectivity, the Minister said.

Apart from this, airports have been developed in Kalaburagi and Bidar districts earlier and more routes are being explored for viability, Somanna said. The Government is also exploring the feasibility and working on a detailed project report for setting up heliports at Madikeri, Chikmagalur, and Hampi, he added.

Insult to Kodavas, Goddess Cauvery: Protest in Madikeri on July 22

Madikeri/Mysuru, July 14 (PS,MK&BCT)- Kodava community members are up in arms against derogatory comments on social media on the community and Goddess Cauvery. Several complaints have been registered in this regard in Bengaluru and Kodagu, urging the Police to take action against the people who spread communal disharmony.

An FIR has been registered at the Madikeri Town Police Station against an Instagram user after members of the Kodava community complained over his malicious, derogatory and inflammatory posts about the women of the community and Goddess Cauvery.

A meeting was held at the Madikeri Kodava Samaja yesterday where the community members and office-bearers of different Kodava Samajas have alleged that despite many complaints, the Police have not taken any action against the culprits.

The community members resolved to stage a protest in Madikeri on July 22 in coordination with different Kodava Samajas. Protests will also be held at the Taluk and village levels, pressing for action against the culprits, they said and added that the comments made against the community and their Goddess Cauvery were meant to disturb the peace and tranquillity of the peaceful district.

Protest held in Mysuru

Meanwhile, office-bearers and members of Sri Kaveri (Cauvery) Kodagu Mahila Sangha, Mysuru, staged a protest at the Kodagu Sahakara Sangha premises in Jayalakshmipuram yesterday demanding action against the people who spread hatred among communities through social media posts.

These people have insulted the Kodava community and have passed disparaging remarks against the women and also passed derogatory comments against their Goddess. "The culprit must immediately be arrested and must be jailed for his attempt to divide the society," they demanded.

Mahila Sangha President Ponjanda Lovely Appaiah, Secretary Chendanda Nirmala Subramani, Vice-President Kollira Bollamma Kuttappa, Joint Secretaries Ittira Jyothi Kashiappa & Padeyanda Sumi Gopal, Organising Secretary Ajjikuttira Diana Poovaiah, former Presidents Balladichanda Jerry Ponnappa, Moovera Bollamma Kuttappa, Balliamanda Sarasu Nanaiah and others were present.

Rangayana fetes Dr. S.L. Bhyrappa at valedictory of 'Parva' play

Continuing Dr. Bhyrappa said, "Though some opposed Cariappa and even made attempts to remove him, Cariappa stood firm and continued with his ideas, which has given a new dimension to the repertory. The selection of renowned Director Prakash Belawadi to direct 'Parva' was among the best decisions. I was so impressed with Belawadi's script for the play that there was no room for any correction. My novel has been adapted in the best manner," he said.

Maintaining that all artistes have played their roles excellently, Dr. Bhyrappa said he does not believe that it is the last show. "I feel that the enactment of the play must continue if there is demand from any quarters. I am all the more happy that renowned scholar Shatavadhani Ganesh has come to watch the play today. Ganesh is not only a literary scholar, but also rich in his philosophical thoughts. Perhaps there is none other than Ganesh who has understood all my novels better," he noted.

Earlier, Rangayana Director Addanda C. Cariappa, who delivered the keynote address, said that the adaptation of Dr. Bhyrappa's 600-page epic novel 'Parva' into a play, was first conceived in May 2020, following which Rangayana scouted for a Director when renowned Theatre Director Prakash Belawadi was found as the right choice.

Later 35 artistes were selected for performing the play and Rangayana went ahead with its plans for staging the epic play amidst the COVID pandemic. Rangayana had sought the then Kannada and Culture Minister C.T. Ravi for sanction of Rs.50 lakh, he recalled.

"As the funds were not sanctioned immediately, I pursued the matter and ultimately, Aravind Limbavali, who had replaced Ravi as the Kannada and Culture Minister, helped in the release of funds," Cariappa said adding that despite lack of funds then, the preparations went on. Today, the valedictory of 'Parva' is being staged with the 40th performance and I am happy that several personalities have come to watch the play which has been highly successful and widely acclaimed across the country and abroad," he concluded.

Rs.40 lakh from 39 shows

When asked about the gate collection of the play which has been enacted at different places across Karnataka and other States, Cariappa said that Rangayana has earned a revenue of about Rs.40 lakh from 39 shows.

Dr. Bhyrappa's wife Saraswathi, son Dr. Vidyasagar, former Rangayana Director B.V. Rajaram, writer Prof. Kalegowda Nagawara, Rangayana Deputy Director Nirmala Matapathi, Kannada and Culture Joint Director V.N. Mallikarjunaswamy and others were present.

The play was first staged in Mysuru in March 2021 and subsequently at Davangere, Dharwad, Belagavi, Vijayapura, Hassan, Chikkamagalur, Shivamogga, Mangaluru, Mumbai, Pune and other places.

Tourism on Cauvery River banks banned

Wall on Wellesley Bridge

Following heavy discharge of water from the KRS Dam, the steps that lead to the river beside Nimishamba Temple have been submerged and ban orders have been imposed around the Temple where devotees are only allowed to enter the Temple and are barred from entering the river bank area.

Meanwhile, the Srirangapatna Panchayat has erected a 5-feet wall at one end of the historic British-era Wellesley Bridge — near Ambedkar Bhavan and has erected a barricade on the east entrance (towards Bengaluru). This was done to ensure safety of the historical bridge and the public, according to Srirangapatna Town Municipal Council.

Officials said that people come from far and wide to see the water release from KRS Dam and they stand over the bridge to see water gushing out with great force. The bridge is old and dilapidated and there is a risk and as such, a wall has been erected on one side and a barricade has been set up to prevent movement, officials said.

Offering of Bagina

Following the tradition of offering 'Bagina' to the reservoirs that have filled up to the brim, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai is likely to do the honours on July 20. However, there is no official word on it as a decision is likely to be taken at a meeting to be held in Bengaluru today.

The KRS Dam has a maximum capacity of 124.80 ft and today's level stood at 124.04 ft — 49.452 tmcft (thousand million cubic feet). A flood gap of 0.76 ft has been kept. The Kabini Dam maximum level is 2,284.00 ft and today's level is at 2,281.76 ft and a gap of 2.24 ft has been kept. This Dam can store 18.09 tmcft and today, an inflow of 33,292 cusecs has been reported with an outflow of 28,000 cusecs.

Entry ban at Gaganachukki and Bharachukki

The District Administrations of Chamarajanagar and Mandya have banned tourist entry to the Gaganachukki and Bharachukki falls. In separate orders, Chamarajanagar DC Charulata Somal and Mandya DC S. Aswathi have banned the entry as a huge amount of water is being released from the KRS and Kabini reservoirs.

While Bharachukki Falls is located in Chamarajanagar, the Gaganachukki Falls is in Mandya district. The two branches (eastern and western branches) flow through deep ravines on either side of the island before plunging into two different places a few kilometres apart to form the Gaganachukki and Bharachukki waterfalls. Gaganachukki and Bharachukki are together known as Shivanasamudra Falls.

DECODING MYTHOLOGY

Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik - Author, Speaker, Illustrator, Mythologist

Burning Lanka in Odisha

Ravana-podi means burning effigies of Ravana. In the Gangetic plains, this happens at the end of autumn Navaratri after the rains on Vijaya Dashami. In Odisha's Dasapalla, Nayagarh district, the same happens at the end of the spring Navaratri before the rains on Ram Navami. However, in another part of Odisha, during the rains, people celebrate a different festival, not the killing of Ravana by Ram but the burning of Lanka by Hanuman. This is Lanka-podi and it is a children's festival.

In Western Odisha, at the confluence of River Tel and Mahanadi, there is a famous Tantrik Shakti site where Goddess Lankeshwari is worshipped on an island. Children in nearby village of Sonepur celebrate the burning of Lanka by Hanuman on the new moon in the lunar month of Bhadra (August/September).

The word Lanka simply means an island in many Indian dialects. This includes river islands. Sonepur means the city of gold, alluding to Ravana's Lanka. The locals believed that this was the golden city of Ravana. On the rainy season's new moon night (Bhadra Amavasya), children are given clay dolls of Hanuman. These are decorated with leaves and flowers. And on the festival night, these dolls are placed on carts, and taken around the neighbourhood, their tails wrapped with oily rags and set on fire. In nearby villages, young men fast all night, and go into a trance. They wear heavy ornamented Hanuman masks and walk on fire as part of a ritual to re-enact the conquest of Lanka by Hanuman.

In folk Hinduism, both Ravana and Hanuman are linked to the Goddess and her Tantrik Siddha powers. Ravana uses this power for negative reasons for personal power and lust. Hanuman, however, through his celibacy and restraint over passions, transforms the tantric energy into good use, to serve humanity. These beliefs play a central role in Western Odisha, once seen as a centre of Tantrik practices. Could this be the original Lanka?

Baudhayana Dharmashastra dated to 2,300 years ago clearly states that the region of the Kalingas should be avoided. The oldest Ramayana manuscripts describe a geography North of the Godavari. Lanka there is described as a place where the Sal tree grows. The Sal tree is found only in Chhattisgarh and Odisha, not further South. Lanka's samudra is described as infested with makara, or crocodiles, which are found in the Mahanadi. Also interesting is that in Odisha, there is a river called Vaitarni, which, in mythology, separates the land of the living from the land of the dead, which is located in the South. With Aryavarta being restricted to the Gangetic plains, the "Southern" regions were clearly regions now associated with Chhattisgarh, Jharkhand and Orissa. This was the land linked with death, hence Tantra, feared by Vedic Brahmins.

Aryavarta gradually expanded itself right up to the sea coasts by the time of Manusmriti 1,800 years ago. By the time Chola kings controlled the Eastern coast of India, in the 10th Century, Ramayana was a popular epic in the South. However, Odisha clearly retains a primal tribal memory of a time when Ram's Southern journey extended from Gangetic plains to the Mahanadi basin, abode of the Tantrik Lankeshwari.

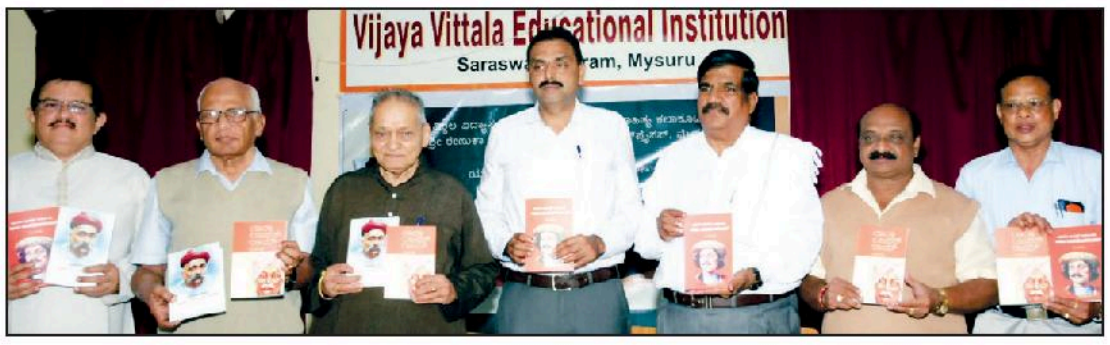
Veteran writer G.S. Bhatta's three works released



Mysuru, July 14 (RKB&DM)- Veteran writer and Karnataka Yakshagana Academy Member G.S. Bhatta's three works — 'Lokmanya Balgangadhar Tilak', 'Aadhunika Bharatada Nirmapaka Rajaram Mohan Roy' and 'Lala Lajpat Rai' — were released at a programme jointly organised by Vijaya Vittala Educational Institutions, Kannada Sahitya Kalakoota, Renuka Prakashana and Samprati Enterprises at Vijaya Vittala College premises in Saraswathipuram here on Monday.

Speaking after releasing the books, litterateur Dr. D.K. Rajendra said that youths should read books on great personalities and leaders who dedicated and sacrificed their lives for the country and draw inspiration from them.

Pointing out that biographies and autobiographies are written in order to reach out to the readers on the life and achievements of tall leaders, he observed that it is certain that the readers get inspired after going through them.

Observing that commitment, dedication and preparations are key for achieving success, he said that lack of these takes one to nowhere.

Noting that G.S. Bhatta has aimed to reach the three towering personalities —Tilak, Rajaram Mohan Roy and Lala Lajpat Rai — to the readers through the books, Rajendra said that it is important to read biographies in order to know how a common man who became great leaders and statesmen later, climbed up the ladder of success by achieving something extraordinary in life.

Vijaya Vittala PU College Principal H. Satyaprasad presided.

Writer Dr. Kabbinale Vasantha Bharadwaj, Sharana Sahitya Parishat Mysuru District Unit President Dr. Helavarahundi Siddappa, Kannada Sahitya Kalakoota President M. Chandrashekar, author G.S. Bhatta, Co-operator Jagadish Hebbar, District Kannada Sahitya Parishat President Maddikere Gopal and others were present.

WORD OF THE DAY

Apposite

Pronunciation: AP-uh-zit.
Meaning: Apposite is used to describe what is very appropriate, or what is suitable for an occasion or situation. It is a synonym of apt.
Origin: Apposite and opposite sound so much alike that you would expect them to have a common ancestor—and they do: the Latin verb pōnere, which means "to place, set." The prefixes that we see in the pair, ap- and op-, specify the kind of placement. Apposite is from appōnere, meaning "to place near," and opposite is from oppōnere, one meaning of which is "to place (over or against)." Opposite is of course the far more common word, but apposite is useful too and is, ahem, apposite in descriptions of what is very appropriate or suitable for something, as in "an apposite comment."
Example: "The fact that Apple can make these stories, many of which have been told before, feel so immediate is a testament to his canny knack for choosing apposite details." — Seth Mnookin

THE ODD WORD

Abbozzo

Preliminary sketch.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

A fate worse than death

Meaning: Any misfortune that would make life unlivable, especially rape or loss of virginity. The phrase was formerly a euphemism for rape.
Origin: This phrase originally attested to the belief that a dishonoured woman was better off dead. It is still used, but ironically of late. The earlier view was expressed in Gibbon's Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, 1781: "The matrons and virgins of Rome were exposed to injuries more dreadful, in the apprehension of chastity, than death itself." The current version of the phrase was used in several works from 1810 onward but was probably brought into public use via Edgar Rice Burroughs' widely read Tarzan of the Apes, 1914: "[The ape] threw her roughly across his broad, hairy shoulders, and leaped back into the trees, bearing Jane Porter away toward a fate a thousand times worse than death." The expression isn't used seriously with its original meaning these days. It's more often used in parody form by local journalists who use 'A fête worse than death' in reviews of church fêtes.
